Treasurer Speaks

A picture of Lower Merion Township's finances was given local Rotarians Tuesday by Peter C. Hess, township treasurer. He showed the distribution of tax money, and compared Lower Merion's tax rate with neighboring places—to the advantage of the township.

The importance of his own position was shown in the fact that he is bonded for $1,300,000. This is the highest bond of any official in the State, the State Treasurer carrying a bond of only $500,000.

To Install New Hydrants

Nine new fire hydrants will be installed soon in Narberth at no cost to the borough by the Philadelphia Suburban Water Company. They will be located at Conway and Haverford Avenues, Wynnewood and Windsor Avenues, Dudley and Sabine Avenues, Sabine Avenue at rear of school, Narbrook Park in front of the Wohler property, Shirley Road at the Redifer corner, Essex and Rockland Avenues, Wynnewood and Rockland Avenues, and on Montgomery between Price and Woodbine Avenues.

Borough May Be Sprayed At Public Expense; War on Beetle Contemplated

Council Requests Report From Shade Tree Commission On Desirability of Spraying.

Narberth Borough authorities have declared war on the Japanese beetle. The borough's Shade Tree Commission has been instructed by the Borough Council to make a report on the advisability and desirability of spraying the entire borough at borough expense. The recommendation that a report on this project be made was included in a special report of the Highway and Sewer Committee, of which Robert F. Wood is chairman, presented to Council Monday night.

While it is felt by some that the cost to the borough of doing this work would be prohibitive, estimates are requested in the report of the Shade Tree Commission of the cost of such work by an adequately equipped commercial organization and the cost of necessary supplies and apparatus so that the spraying might be done by borough labor.

The special report, which was approved by Council, follows:

"In view of the recent seriousness of the depredations of the Japanese beetles on the trees, shrubbery and other public and private plantings in the borough and in view of the expectancy that this situation can be no better and may be worse, in future years, impairing and seriously threatening the beauty and residential character of this community, and because it has been demonstrated that unorganized and partial sprayings of private grounds at private expense, while desirable and commendable, can bring little relief and, when not well advised, is a waste of the citizens' money.

"We recommend that the borough clerk be and he is hereby instructed to notify the Shade Tree Commission that it is the desire of Council to receive at a reasonably early date a report and recommendation as to the advisability and desirability of having the entire borough, including both publicly-owned and privately-owned grounds, effectively sprayed at borough expense next year, and that such report from the Shade Tree Commission should cover especially the following points:

"1. The frequency, times and methods of spraying.

"2. The insecticides to be used and the reasons therefor.

"3. An estimate of the cost having this work done under contract by a commercial organization which is or-

The seashore still attracts the Narberth folk for either short or long visits. Many, too, are entertaining out-of-town guests, while quite a number have returned from their vacations.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Bailey, Jr., and their son Arthur and their daughters, Eileen and Kathleen, of Merion and Essex Avenues, are spending the month of August at Ocean City. They will return home about September 1.

Miss Evelyn Fleck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Fleck, of Montgomery Avenue, left on Tuesday for a week's stay in Atlantic City.

Adult Tennis Tourney

Opens at Playground

The adult tennis tournament at the Narberth Community Playground will open tonight at 6 o'clock. Entries may be made up to 5:30 at the bulletin board after which time the draw will be made. There will be play in men's and women's singles and mixed doubles. Play will continue Saturday and Sunday afternoon and Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings.

The tournament will be the usual elimination type with each match the best out of three sets. Names listed for tournament play will have precedence over all others while playing tournament games.

To Add Stock Space

Work will be begun soon on another addition to Strawbridge & Clothier's Main Line store which will consist of a stockroom in a basement on the west side of the building. "We are preparing for fall business," said Manager B. C. Burlingame yesterday. Three thousand square feet of space will be added by this addition, which will not appear above ground. The work will be done by A. L. Fretz and Son from plans by Dreher and Churchman. Both this addition and the lower floor addition now in course of construction under St. James Place are expected to be completed by October 1.

Firemen Have Rest

No alarms of fire were given during the month of July, according to the police and fire report, submitted at Council on Monday night. The report stated that the pump in the engine had been gone over and the apparatus was in excellent condition after six years of use.

A home run by Highfield in the eighth inning, the third homeric blow of the game, enabled the Media Club to jostle the Narberth champions out of fourth place in the Main Line League standing and achieve a hard-earned victory after the Davismen held the lead for seven long innings. The score of 6-4, which prevailed up until the eighth frame in favor of the Boroughites, became 8-6 with Narberth on the short end at the termination of the contest.

Muscular swatting had each team vying strenuously for the triumph after a rather dull start having all the indications of another light hitting contest which has been prevalent during the last few games. In the first two innings Bill Reynolds and Elmer Peckman of the visitors flung that ball over the plate with rare accuracy, neither team showing the ability to score, as Media led the Davismen by a single hit.

The monotonous silence of these two innings was soon shattered in the resident half of the third as the champions' maces assumed a haughty disposition and rocked four hard hits off Peckman's glove to tally four runs. This substantial lead with two more runs seemed to have the Narberth audience all agog for it would have elevated the Borough tribe one place in the Main Line League standing in this fervid race for the title.

In the fifth, sixth and seventh the County Seaters offset Narberth's lead by tallying four runs, two coming over in the fifth by the aid of a home run, the first of the game. A single by K.

Rooters Wanted For Beach Haven Game

The Narberth baseball team plays at Beach Haven on Sunday and the management hopes to see many borough fans rooting on the sidelines. A bus, accommodating forty people, will leave for the shore resort from Davis' store on Sunday morning at 8:30 o'clock. Reservations should be made not later than tonight (Friday) at Davis'. People planning to go down who will have extra room in their car for players are requested to get in touch with Manager Gene Davis. The game will be called at 3:30. The route is on the White Horse Pike to Lily on the Lake, where a left turn is made, then straight to Beach Haven.

Narberth Theatre Notes

Gary Cooper in "The Texan," totally different in theme and locale than "The Virginian," but with the same great outdoor action and the same popular appeal, is the Narberth Theatre's attraction this Friday and Saturday. News, comedy, cartoon and Vitaphone act complete the week-end bill.

Next Monday and Tuesday, "Paramount on Parade," hailed as the best revue of the year, will be the premier attraction. A host of stars are numbered in the cast.

Wednesday and Thursday, the inimitable Frenchman, Maurice Chevalier, will come to the Narberth in "The Big Pond." Supporting him is Claudette Colbert.

Owing to numerous requests of ladies unable to attend matinees the management of the Narberth Theatre has decided to have a gift night every Thursday night at which time a beautiful piece of rose dresserware will be given to each lady attending the theatre. The response to the first Ladies' Gift Night last Thursday was tremendous and the next is eagerly awaited.

Miss Helen Myers, guest organist at the Narberth Theatre, has been very well received. Many request numbers have been played.

Coming attractions at the Narberth Theatre include many pictures of note, among them "So This Is London," "Let Us Be Gay," "The Big House" and "All Quiet on the Western Front."

Egyptian Theatre Notes

"Paramount on Parade," hailed as one of the biggest and best revues of the year, is the attraction at the Egyptian Theatre this Friday.

This Saturday's feature at the Cynwyd Playhouse features William Powell in a thrilling mystery play, "The Benson Murder Case," from the S. S. Van Dine story.

One of the most gorgeous and sumptuous revues ever made for the talking screen, "King of Jazz," with Paul Whiteman himself, leading his band in person, comes to the Egyptian next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Lovers of smooth jazz will not want to miss this show, which includes the playing of Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue" as only Whiteman and his orchestra can play it.

Clara Bow, IT girl, is the star of "True to the Navy," the Thursday and Friday attraction.

Those who revelled in "The Adventures of Dr. Fu Manchu" will not miss the opportunity to renew their acquaintance with the sinister doctor in the "Return of Dr. Fu Manchu," the Saturday attraction, and those who missed the first "Fu" picture have a rare treat in store for them.

Part of this very gratifying number is, no doubt, due to the popularity of the Travel Club, as the children's summer reading course is now called. The life of children in other countries seems to have a very real appeal, for most of the eighty registrants have proceeded with enthusiasm. Already fourteen have completed the required number of books and are qualified to receive a certificate. At least as many are near the goal. The Mothers' Council will, as usual, give a prize to the child presenting the best map as a record of his reading.

Miss Lois A. Maltby and Miss Florence Jessie Maltby, of Essex Avenue, are at Camp Unami, Summertown, Pa., for a two weeks' vacation.

Manoa Extends Boro Nine's Losing Streak

Trailing 3-2 in the Final Inning,
Davismen Load Bases, But
Fail to Score.

WAS SIX-INNING GAME

By John Uberti.

Inattentiveness on the part of Harvey Humphries in the last inning of the game against Manoa last Tuesday resulted in the loss of a rare opportunity to flash to the front by virtue of one of the most promising rallies effected by the Narberth Club in their many exhibitions of pell-mell finishes. In failing to count after loading the bases in the final inning of this abbreviated game, which was scheduled for six innings, Narberth dropped their fourth consecutive game as Manoa carved out a neat and narrow victory of 3-2.

The opportunities offered for Narberth's advance to triumph were promising and when Humphries went down for the third local retirement in this inning, a rare demonstration of courage went for naught. Profiting by Tabbut's temporary ineffectiveness on the slab, Narberth placed two men on the bags by means of passes and another singled. Mulligan fanned for the second time in the finale, but Humphries, the veteran of baseball, was issued a ticket admitting him to first. Fleck interspersed another walk with a one-base hit and Stewart tallied the second out by falling on strikes. Manager Davis then deputized Rubincam to wave Blessing's bat, but before Tabbut could get over the deciding heave Humphries on third deprived Narberth of a rally in the making.

Morrey Tabbut made a relay to Rudolph on third, but Humphries slid back to the bag. As he rose amid a cloud of dust he stepped off the bag facing the crowd along the third base line who had been razzing him continually since the early stages of the contest. Tabbut lost no time in profiting by his carelessness and before the veteran could take heed to the warnings coming from the Narberth rooters, Rudolph had retrieved Tabbut's second successive relay which came over as though catapulted from a mechanical device and Humphries was declared out on third, where he remained a few moments as the Manoa fans went wild and Humphries walked off the diamond without a word.

The setback was charged to Howard Graham, who faced the widely-known and eminent Morrey Tabbut, giving him his seventh reverse out of the fourteen games which he has hurled thus far this year. Tabbut was the whole show for the visitors, as he fanned ten for the brief encounter, five of the strikeouts coming during the first two innings of play.

For a moment in the third frame Tabbut was not himself on the slab and walked Graham. Then he struck Mulligan with a heave of which he had lost all control and a triple by Humphries scored both players for two runs. But the incident of importance was in the scoring of the three runs by the Manoa Club, two of which at least should never have been permitted to score. When Fleck dropped Tabbut's fly in deep left the crafty moundsman reached first in ample time and had a chance of making the keystone. Adair's single was good for one base and on England's one-bagger Tabbut scored. Adair went to the torrid section on Beaumont's sacrifice lift to centre-field and when Rudolph tapped an infield rap Adair made for the pentagon as Graham intercepted the relay to the plate and engaged in a back-and-forth play on England, who took too great a lead off third. In the play which featured Graham, Young and Humphries, England was finally run down by Graham. But then Howard effected a swift, inaccurate assist to third base when he saw Rudolph headed for that corner and the lad scored walking. Shillingsford raised a puny fly to Humphries.

Hold Ladies' Tournament at City Line Golf Club

The ladies' Tom Thumb golf tournament held at the City Line Golf Club last Friday was most successful. First prize was won by Mrs. A. Bettelheim, of 2499 North Fiftieth Street, Philadelphia, with a score of 48. Second prize went to Mrs. James Dooley, of the Bala Apartments, Bala, with a 54. Third place went to Miss Cecelia Bowes, of Trevor Lane, Cynwyd, whose score was 54. Thirty-two members of the fair sex were entered in the tourney.

Many residents of Bala, Cynwyd, Merion, Narberth and other communities are practicing up their strokes at the City Line Club for the qualifying round of the district Tom Thumb championship, which will begin September 1. This is preparatory to the National Tom Thumb championship which will be held at Chattanooga, Tenn., from October 20 to 22. Champions of each Tom Thumb course in the Philadelphia district will meet in a final tournament to determine the winners—a man and a woman—to be sent to Chattanooga at no cost to the participants. The City Line Golf Club is a member of the National Tom Thumb Golf Association, and hence is privileged to conduct a local tournament, the winners to meet with winners of other local tournaments.

Ladies are now qualifying for the club tourney, the finals of which will take place later this month. A score of 60 or better qualifies.

Thirteen Building Permits Issued During July

Thirteen building permits were issued by George B. Suplee, Narberth building inspector, during the month of July. These permits, which netted the borough $47, were for building operations estimated to cost $6058. Forty-three inspections were made by the building inspector during the month, six operations being completed.

Permits were granted to the following: C. P. Cook, 232 Haverford Avenue, addition, $800; John B. Williams, 231 Wynnewood Avenue, demolishing; Walter O'Sullivan, 85 Windsor Avenue, roof, $250; Eugene Davis, 108 Forest Avenue, alterations, $150; Miss Gladys Kilbourne, 310 Grayling Avenue, porch, $400; Charles L. Old Houses

If you want a home stylish in appearance and with the modern comforts of our day—yet you can't afford or do not wish to build a new home—modernize the old house.

Most houses built since 1900 are sound structurally. With slight changes—perhaps the addition of new woodwork, hardwood floors, possibly a shingled exterior, a roof if needed, built-in conveniences, more closet space, a sun parlor if desired, a modern step-saving kitchen, these homes can be brought to 1930 standards in beauty and comfort.

And the cost will really be less than you think. Modernizing pays for itself. Think it over—and come in for ideas and literature or ask us to send an experienced man out to give you complete information.

FORE AND AFT

Next week will again mark the first performance anywhere of a play at the Hedgerow Theatre when "Limelight," by Donald Corley, is given its world premiere on the evening of August 23. Mr. Corley, the author, is known chiefly as a short story writer, but he is by no means new to the theatre. He first came to Mr. Deeter's attention through his association with the Provincetown Theatre, now famous beyond its own accomplishments because of the names of Susan Glaspell and Eugene O'Neill. "Limelight" is centered around the capricious Nicolette of the prologue and epilogue who, in the body of the play, takes on the puppet personality of Charmistia. In the Hedgerow production Kay Roma will create this role. Aside from prologue and epilogue the play is designed upon the lines of a puppet show and characters and action unfold with the precise mechanism of puppetry.

On Tuesday night O'Neill's "The Emperor Jones" will be given with Wayland Rudd in the role of the Emperor, which he will play the following week at Stockbridge, Mass., with the stock company managed by Alexander Kirkland, a former member of the Hedgerow company. Wednesday night will mark the return to the repertory after an absence of several months of Shaw's merry fillip at the idiocies of war, "Arms and the Man." The comedy will be played with Ferd Nofer as Bluntschli and Dudley Vaughan as the impressionable Raina. O'Neill will again be represented in the play for Thursday evening, "The First Man," with William Price as the scientist who is so absorbed in the divine right of his own creative life that he forgets that right to create which belongs to his wife as well. Dudley Vaughan plays the wife and Ferd Nofer, Harry Bellaver, Carl Reukauff, Gretchen Anton-Smith and Greta Mylcraine are cast as members of the scientist's memorable family. The play for Friday evening will be a repetition of J. M. Synge's Irish comedy, "The Playboy of the Western World," which is also to be shown tomorrow night at Rose Valley.

Railroad Delays

Derailment of a coal car which buckled in the middle of a ninety-eight-car freight train on the Pennsy near Radnor Station last Friday morning caused delays to Main Liners bound cityward of fifteen minutes to half an hour. This mishap came on the heels of a fire at Nineteenth and Filbert Streets, which burned out the signal wires, delaying traffic to and from Broad Street for about eight hours.

In the Right Direction

By its move in asking for a report from the borough Shade Tree Commission on the advisability of spraying the entire community at public expense, the Narberth Borough Council takes cognizance of a problem which is too big for the individual householder to cope with.

The Japanese beetle finds in the suburban communities with their lawns, shrubs, trees and gardens an ideal field for its operations. Individuals have come to realize the extent of damage that these pests can do to their properties, and many have availed themselves of the means at their disposal to protect their growing things against the insects.

Experience of the last couple of years has shown, however, that individual action, however commendable, does not have any lasting results, and that a concerted, communitywide effort is necessary.

It may be that the cost of spraying even such a compact community as the Borough of Narberth, with its one square mile of territory, will prove too great for the borough authorities to undertake. Wisdom is seen in the request that the Shade Tree Commission prepare an estimate of the cost of necessary apparatus and supplies so that spraying, etc., could be done by borough labor, as well as an estimate on the cost by a competent commercial organization.

The protection of grounds against such a pest as the beetle may well be considered as important a function of local government as provision for the protection of life, of property against loss by fire and many of the other services rendered.

A Precautionary Measure

The action of the Philadelphia Suburban Water Company in sending out postcards to all its customers on the Main Line and in nearby sections which it serves stating that the water situation "while serious is not yet acute," reiterates the warning about undue use of water contained in news story published in this paper last week.

The cooler days this week, which incidentally have acted like a tonic to residents overdosed with the heat, will naturally cut down the consumption of water to some extent. They will not, however, replenish the supply which is dependent on rainfall.

While lawns and gardens are not resuscitated by cooler weather as are humans, it is well to go easy on the luxury use of water until the present drought comes to an end.

PLAYGROUND NEWS

Activities at the Borough
Playgrounds

On Tuesday the Cardinals ousted the Midgets from first place in the baseball league by defeating them in a ten-inning game by a score of 8 to 7. Wright, catcher for the Cardinals, drove in the winning run in the last half of the tenth with a single over first base. The other Tuesday game resulted in another win for the Lucky Nine over Narbrook, 17-9. Last Thursday's scores: Lucky Nine, 26; Midgets, 6; Cardinals, 11; Narbrook 10. The Lucky Nine have hit a winning streak, having won four straight, while Narbrook still occupies the cellar position.

Wednesday afternoon the Narberth Playground defeated the Bryn Mawr Playground in a tennis match, 3-2. Results of the singles: Raymond Staley, Bryn Mawr, defeated Sandy Thomas, Narberth, 6-2; Allen Jones, Narberth, defeated Florendo Troncelliti, Bryn Mawr, 6-1; Charles Harndeen, Narberth, defeated Jack Flaherty, Bryn Mawr, 6-1. Doubles results: Stanley and Troncelliti, Bryn Mawr, defeated Allen Jones and Asbury Coward, Narberth, 7-5, 7-5; Francis Goss and Joe Witte, Narberth, defeated Flaherty and Jack Bye, Bryn Mawr, 6-2, 6-0. The return match will be played on the Bryn Mawr Playground next Tuesday. Ralph Ross was victorious in the archery contest held last Friday on the School Playground.

The original doll show was won by Dorothy Wilmot, of the School Playground, with a doll made of a potato for a head, cabbage leaves for a dress, and peas for arms and legs. Honorable mention is given Helen and Betty Burgess, Billy Rickard, Peeps Potter and Mary Lyon.

The golf tournament has been postponed from today to next Wednesday. Next Monday the roller skating races will be run off. They are of three kinds: (1) 50-yard dash, (2) coasting for distance; (3) one skate race. There will be separate races for boys and girls of fourteen years and under.

The girls' volley ball league is functioning regularly on Tuesday and Thursday with all four teams striving hard for first place as it has been rumored that the winners will be taken for a trip to Valley Forge. To date Lillian Dorsey's team appears to have the edge.

JESS—IN FUN

My Inventive Genius

One would think that columnistic, dog-breeding and publishing activities would absorb practically all my waking hours. This, possibly, would be true in the case of persons of only average ability. But my keen intellect and ever-increasing energy demand further and wider outlets. Even the self-appointed position of Neighborhood Pacifier and Conciliator, carrying with it the necessity of devoting hours every day to keeping the community congenial and comfortable, leaves me with at least an hour a day to devote to other pursuits. So I have gone in for inventing on a large scale.

The project upon which I am working is a Heat and Cold Conservator. Briefly, the idea is this. Providence, nearly perfect as it may be with regard to some things, is hopelessly inefficient in the climate which it provides. In winter we freeze and in summer we sizzle. This is as unnecessary as it is undesirable. No sane person would vote for such torridity as we have had during the past few weeks. And not much support could be discovered for the near-zero weather which we had last winter.

I intend to collect a bit of the heat of these August days, and let it loose upon the shivering countryside next December. Before I free this heat, I shall treasure up a supply of frigidty to save for next summer. Possibly it will take several years to adjust the mechanism to suit my own ideas of a perfect climate, but eventually I expect to put on a schedule of eternal spring weather.

The mechanism which I am developing is simple in the extreme. It is almost unthinkable that other men of genius did not happen upon it years ago. It consists chiefly of a large asbestos container, insulated throughout by a surrounding vacuum, much after the fashion of the thermos bottle. The interior of the container is filled with a mixture of metals, all of which are characterized by their ability to retain heat or cold. The container is opened and exposed to the rays of the sun. When enough heat has been collected, it is closed, and the vacuum preserves the heat until I desire to liberate it. In winter, the cold is collected in the same manner.

A great number of these containers will have to be placed in use before the climate can be completely changed. As the winters and summers gradually more nearly approximate each other in temperature, it will be increasingly more difficult to persuade people to participate in my plan. I can only urge my readers to assist to the utmost.

It must be remembered that a great many selfish manufacturers will oppose this invention, even against the interest of the whole country. Already the galoshes manufacturers, the great snow-shovel trust, the coal-diggers, the oil-burner salesmen and others too numerous to mention have tried to run me out of business. Fearful already for their winter sales programs, they have placed such pressure upon the metropolitan newspapers that I can secure no publicity for my invention. And when the moderating influence of my mechanism becomes apparent this winter, the electric fan interests, the ice trust, soft-drink manufacturers and the summer hotel proprietors will be after my scalp with a vengeance. I may ruin their business next summer.

Any scientist will see upon a moment's reflection that my invention is based upon the soundest of physical principles. No person of average intelligence who is at all sensitive to climatic changes can think for a moment that this invention will not be of inestimable benefit to the human race on almost every continent. In the history of civilization one must go back to the first discovery of fire to find anything so revolutionary and important as my invention.

The only factor which can prevent the world from having all the benefits of my untiring efforts is the pressure of the vested interests. If the people will arise and fight for the greatest improvement which has been advanced for their benefit in thousands of years,

Lester Gets Revenge on Narberth, 1-0

Clever Baserunning By Campiglia Ends Long Pitching Duel.

GRAHAM GAVE TWO HITS

By John Uberti.

In the record time of one hour and five minutes, the Lester Athletic Club eked out a one-run victory over Narberth at Lester field last Thursday. The tally was scored by ingenious baserunning on the part of a young Italian lad. This 1-0 score evens the series, Narberth having won 12-3 last Monday night at home.

The coining of this run was the culmination of a gruelling duel of the mound in which Howard Graham suffered his sixth reverse of the season in thirteen games. Two weeks ago Howard contracted an infected finger on his pitching hand which has been bothering him ever since. The infection was cured for this game, however, and Graham was back into the old stride as he allowed the foe men two hits.

But when Manager Beard delegated a certain Mr. Bilesky to pit his ability against the diminutive Narberth ace, Howard's good work went to naught. It was a brilliantly waged fracas, free from blunders on both sides and only a possible faux pas or intelligent baserunning when once on could have turned in the triumph in this contest of close-fisted hurling.

In this particular case it was clever baserunning which had the Narberth champions looking on stupefied. If a member of the champion borough club ever effected such a cunning steal of the bases to bring in victory as did this lad whom his pals call Campiglia, it must have been done away back in years when Howard Davis was teaching his managerial son "Gene" the art of baseball.

In defeat Howard Graham was magnificent. He dealt the foe men two bingles, one a double, which came in the fourth canto and the other a single which appeared in the sixth inning and which resulted in the scoring of the only run of the game.

The Narberth Club also had two hits, but which meant very little for the local cause. "Howdy" Powell was again loaned to the regular nine from the Narberth Junior Club, and, akin to his previous performance against the Gregorian Club last month, his play was the bright feature of the game. The hitting and fielding of this promising youngster was unequalled by any of the older members of the regular club and delayed the attempts of the enemy in winning the game earlier in the evening. Narberth had only two hits and Powell cracked them both. The champions came near sending a run in the fourth inning, and Powell was the object upon whom the small attendance had their eyes focused as the umpire pronounced him "out" as he slid over the plate. In the fourth frame when "Howdy" sliced his second lick of the contest, Kearney got on by virtue of Bilesky's wildness. But the punch was gone and the side soon went out.

In the sixth inning the Lester Club shipped in a man. Bida was the first man out in the sixth when Powell ran in for his grounder and forced him out at first. Campiglia then followed his less fortunate comrade and clicked his first hit of the contest, a long, low blow which soared out into right field. While on first base, Graham executed two rapid assists to Young, who played first base, but both times the umpire ruled the runner safe. On Miles' sacrifice rap Campiglia went to second and stole third on another disputed play. The plays were of such a close nature that the umpire acted well in favoring the runner.

That which took place a moment later had the fans all agog and the Narberth men went home having learned a new trick in baseball. As Graham wound up for his throw to Manager Beard, Campiglia left third base and made the pentagon. Howard Graham came near balking on the hill when he saw the moving runner, but took heed to Campiglia's warning to the umpire as he shouted, "He's winding up, ump." With this warning, Howard went on winding and threw to Caniglia behind the plate. But the dashing, dapper youth came flying toward the plate, again issuing instructions to Beard to "let it go." As Beard stepped back from the pentagon, Campiglia scored sliding as Caniglia looked on with amazement. Manager Beard then blanked, but little that meant for even one run can win an important game.

Home Run in Eighth Gives Media Victory

Mooney in the sixth to score his brother, C. Rooney, who had tripled into left centre, put the score at 6-3. Cochrane's single, which sent over Highfield in the seventh, made the race still more tense for both teams.

Despite the lead which the Narberth boys held over the foemen in the seventh stanza, they were outthit ten to nine and Media added three more to their list before the contest came to an end.

Bill Reynolds, the acquisition from Dayton University, went down to defeat against Elmer Peckman, which marks his first setback this season against six victories. Reynolds complained to Manager Davis of the heat in the sixth inning and asked "Gene" to withdraw him as soon as he deemed best. However, Manager Davis was somewhat reluctant in yanking Reynolds from the game and, in the eighth inning, when he placed three men on the lanes without an out, Bill walked off the premises in favor of Howard Graham. Howard failed to stem off defeat in this inning and was troubled for four hits, one of them being a homeric swipe which scored three of the runs.

Bill Reynolds was charged with the defeat in that he was responsible for placing three men on the lanes who later cantered homeward with the runs of triumph.

Vernie Fleck and Reynolds usurped the batting honors for the game by hitting at a .667 pace. Fleck's two singles in three official trips entitled him to this fine record. This performance also raised Fleck's consecutive mark to twenty-five games for the year, as it gave him the lead among the batters for the second half period with an average of .500.

Narberth's best showing came in the third as Martin reached first on Baldwin's blunder which also yielded the Boroughites two runs when Burns and Humphries dashed over on the error. Singles by Reynolds and Humphries gave Narberth the other two points. A four-base smash coming in the home half of the sixth credited to Harvey Humphries was a timely reply to Peckman's drive in the fifth which gave the visitors their first two runs.

But that third blow for four bases, which came in the eighth, giving the travelers the edge in Ruthian swatting, was the bingle that upset the champions and dropped them down the ladder a rung into fifth place.

Narberth Rally Fails, Hilldale Wins Again

Borough Nine Spurts in Ninth,
Adding Three Runs; Final
Count Is 8 to 5.

FIFTH FOR DUSKY CLAN

By John Uberti

For the fifth time since they first met the Narberth Club three years ago, Lloyd Thompson's Hilldale Club went through "Gene" Davis' Main Line champions on Monday night. But this game, the most audaciously-played on the offense, gave the Darby boys something to worry about in the last inning when the Davismen chased Mitchell from the box as they elevated the one-sided score to a final standing of 8-5.

The Hilldale boys went about their task in the usual impetuous manner before two thousand fans and worked the sedate Walter Masters for hits at will, taking thirteen during the first eight innings of play. A long drive into left-centre by Lewis in the first inning sent the ebony club off on a fair start with two runs of the contest. Three hits gave Hilldale their two tallies at the start and four more contributed three runs for the third and fourth sessions. A home run off the bat of Burbage in the fifth frame with the bases bare had the foemen leading by six runs as Narberth had yet failed to enter the scoring column.

By the volume of cheering that went up from the borough followers in the fifth inning one would have thought that Narberth had staged a spurt that had wiped out Hilldale's lead. In this inning a single by Masters scored Kearney as the Davismen went out to meliorate the present standing if not attempt to rally to the front. After Heckle singled to left-field in the eighth Burns came to bat and clubbed a hard curving drive through Dallard's legs that sent Heckle over the disc.

In the foreign half of the eighth, however, these two runs went to waste as Lloyd Thompson's bunch equaled this scoring by counting twice with the aid of three hits and a pass off Masters.

In their last appearance Narberth effected a buoyant comeback to offset the topheavy count and pounded four hefty hits off the combined efforts of Mitchell and Hubbard. Kearney was first man up in the finale and popped up to Tuckey on third. Gilfillan acted as pinch-hitter for Rubincam and singled to left wing, but was forced off second by Townsend, who hit for Thomas. Dallard's misjudgment of Masters' grounder proved costly to the invaders for Heckle then came to bat and sent Townsend home by a hard one-base clout into right-field. Mickey Burns kept the merry-go-round going in full sway by singling inside the boundary line in right, scoring Masters. Thompson yanked the withering Mitchell from the peak and sent Hubbard to the rescue. Narberth then made a feeble effort to wash him off the eminence, but after Humphries hit his second bingle of the game, a double out to Windsor Avenue, Fleck lofted to left-field.

The defeat was Masters' third for the year as against four victories. Two singles by Fleck in this game sent his consecutive hitting mark up to twenty-six straight games for the season.

Narberth's four hits in the last inning flare-up which netted them their three runs raised their hitting to thirteen licks for the evening which equalled Hilldale's performance.

Early Risers in Boro Keep Neighbors Awake

Edison is not the only one who gets along on four hours' sleep per night. A family in Narberth is accustomed to arise at 5:30 A. M. after retiring at 1 A. M. or after. One difference is that this family of early risers makes so much noise and commotion at this hour of the morning when few but milkmen are about that the neighbors next door cannot get in their best sleep. This situation was brought to the attention of the borough police by the neighbor whose slumbers were disturbed. According to the police report for the past month, "she wants the officers to do something about this or she will have to see her own lawyer."

Immoderate imbibing of prohibited liquids cost two worthies $5 and costs when arraigned before Magistrate Fred Walzer.

Articles reported stolen during the month included a bicycle, a ladder, a pocketbook containing $30 and a watch, and an Edison mimeograph machine.

The police has been on the lookout for a couple who go from door to door selling lace. At one home on Haverford Avenue after the maid said no lace was wanted, the woman asked if she (the maid) could lay her hands on any jewels. Receiving a reply in the negative, the woman then observed that many houses in the neighborhood seemed to be vacant.

Homer By Blessing

Beats Gregorian Again

By John Uberti.

A savage circuit thrust with the bases packed to capacity, after trailing 4-1 up until the sixth inning, rewarded "Gene" Davis' Main Line League czars with their third consecutive victory over the Gregorian Catholic Club of Philadelphia on Wednesday in a contest brimful of tenses and enmity. The score was 5-4.

The game was a sequel of their past two encounters which also ended in close scores of 2-1 and 3-2, both in favor of the Narberth Club. But this one, unlike the others, bore excitement and a touch of fabulous baseball playing which one only sees at the cinema or reads of through the works of some imaginative author.

Richard (Dick) Blessing, for a long time a rookie on the staff of the Narberth nine, turned Ruthian all of a sudden and emulated Ray Young's heroic deeds of the past two years when he came to bat in the sixth frame with the lanes clogged. Narberth had previously spurted in the fourth to tie Gregorian's one tally, but another in the fifth and two in the alien half of the sixth put the boroughites far in arrears.

The Strawbridge & Clothier
ANNUAL SALE of FURS
Famous for Style and Value...

A Quarter Million Dollars' Worth of Finer Furs
 Make a Veritable Exposition of Fur Fashions . . .
 and the Prices Make a Fur Coat an Investment!

NOT in a decade has there been a Sale of Furs like this that begins Saturday in our Main Line Store and Monday in our City Store. Not in ten years have circumstances so combined as to enable you to secure such fine Furs at such savings. Wholesale Fur prices are so low that we were able to pick and choose among hundreds of styles for every one that we chose, securing the very smartest of Fur fashions for this event. The result is an Annual Sale of almost unprecedented Fur values. And behind every beautiful coat and its astounding price stand Strawbridge & Clothier's generations of experience, Strawbridge & Clothier's reputation!

Fur Fashions Have Changed!

The old Fur Coat simply won't do this year, you'll agree when you've viewed the new fashions.

New Coats Longer

Down to the middle of the calf they come and sometimes lower, in formal fashions.

New Coats Fuller

And new Fur Coats wrap generously, away over. They seem to be more luxuriously made all over.

Silhouettes Differ

Most of the new Fur Coats are either flared or fitted, in line with the gracious new mode.

Many New Turns

For instance, black fur coats head the smart list. And coats of one fur are enjoying new favor.

Evening Wraps

Evening wraps are short to fit in with the new silhouette. But they are cleverly and variously made.

*What's Happening in Furs . . . and What
 It Has to Do With this Annual Sale*

It's a very rare thing that the Fur Market reaches such a low as now. And there is a very rare reason for it. Last year the trappers were very busy, and the wholesale market was very active. Choice pelts poured into the icy storerooms of the wholesalers. But the retail fur market was very slow. Fur prices, as usual, were high. Money was scarce and women just weren't buying Furs. Those who dealt in Furs thought the condition temporary. And before they knew it they found themselves literally swamped with Furs. Storerooms were running over, and something had to be done about it. The law of supply and demand took care of the something. Prices came down. Down. And we've every reason to believe, that with prices so low, retail buying will again become active, and prices, by the same law, will go up again shortly. That is why we say that these prices make a Fur Coat an investment.

Prices Range from $27.50 to $3500.

Savings from tens to hundreds of dollars.

Whether you choose a little lapin (dyed rabbit) evening jacket at $27.50 or a gorgeous Mink wrap at $3500, your saving will be amazing. If you could go with us over last year's prices and this year's for the same quality garments, price for price, you would realize why this is a good time to buy Furs. And if you know the reputation and standing of the Strawbridge & Clothier Fur Department, you will decide to buy your Furs here.

*The Deferred Payment Plan and Free
 Storage Till Fall Facilitate Saving*

A small sum secures your coat and the purchase price is spread over several months. And every Fur Coat purchased now will be stored free until November first. CHARGE CUSTOMERS may have purchases charged on October bills payable in November.

Sale Starts SATURDAY at Main Line Store . . . Ardmore

Sale Starts MONDAY at Philadelphia Store
